City News

Summer in Avoca is HERE! As we gear up for sunny days at the Aquatic Center and tee times at the CountryView Golf Course, we're reminding everyone to be mindful of water use this summer. Please limit non-essential water use, especially during dry spells.

The City is also doing its part:

- We're using water from the East Branch of the West Nishnabotna River to irrigate the golf course.
- For the third year, we're filling the Aquatic Center with water from Walnut.
- And new this year—we'll use treated Walnut water to maintain the pool all season.

Thanks for helping us keep Avoca fun and sustainable this summer!

Welcome, Wendy, City of Avoca's Deputy Clerk

Meet Wendy Dierking, the new Deputy Clerk for the City of Avoca! Wendy began her role on May 9 and brings a strong background in IT, having previously worked as a business analyst and quality assurance test analyst. Ready for a new chapter, she made the decision to return to her roots and serve the community she calls home. Wendy is excited to be part of the team and looks forward to connecting with everyone.

Loneliness or Solitude and the Role of Main Streets

By Matt Wagner, PhD
Chief Innovation Officer at Main Street America

There has been a great deal of dialogue in the health and civic sectors around the loneliness epidemic centered on an extensive report from the US Surgeon General entitled Our Epidemic of Loneliness and Isolation. A more recent article in The Atlantic by Derek Thompson, The Anti-Social Century, suggests there may be a more conscious choice at work as we think about the quest and desire for more “solitude.”

This impacts our downtowns and neighborhoods and shifts in retail, restaurants, and services. In 2023, 74% of all restaurant traffic came from “off-premises” customers — from takeout and delivery — up from 61% before COVID, according to the National Restaurant Association. This profoundly impacts restaurant design and layout relative to sitting and waiting space, staffing, and the potential for decreasing civic connectivity by sharing eating space. This is consistent with other data highlighting declines in drinking and dining out with friends, dating, obtaining a driver’s license, time spent and number of friends, and annual cinema ticket sales.

Additional impacts are likely to be felt in increased sales of home furnishings, décor, and even kitchen gadgets as more individuals burrow into their homes, as well as fitness equipment and connected exercise programs for at home.

Main Streets have a significant role to play in fostering social cohesion. According to Thompson, families and friends give us love and security, while our community gives us shared affinities. These diverse connections help us bridge gaps and relate with empathy. I see Main Streets as critical places for everyone to engage with one another, see their neighbor, and understand their circumstances, differences, and similarities. On our Main Streets, we attend events and parades, volunteer, and bump into strangers and locals alike in the park, the library, or the local café. Main Street’s purpose goes beyond economics; it is critical for renewing our human connections.

Summer Reading Kickoff. Level Up at Your Library

The Avoca Public Library will be participating in the Iowa Summer Reading program! This year's theme invites kids to gamify their library and reading experiences. We'll be focusing on sports, games, and personal growth all summer. Join us for the kickoff event on June 4, at 10:30, on the AHSTW track for a fun run/walk, story time, and sign up!

Author Visit

June 4, 5:30 p.m.

The Avoca Public Library is pleased to present an evening with local author Jacqueline Reing, who will be discussing her new novel Fairy Academy of QuillSnap. Join us in the library, during the first Farmer's Market, for a reading, signing, and author talk.

Teen Photo Competition

We're running a Teen Photo Contest at the Avoca Public Library again this summer! This year, we're looking for action shots, whether that's of a sporting event, your pet at play, or even just you and your friends goofing around. Full submission forms are available at the front desk. Each contestant can submit up to three photos, before July 1, either by emailing the library (library@cityofavoca.com) or by bringing them in and dropping them off in person. See official submission form for full details.
